Dear Mrs. Westwood

I am writing to express my appreciation regarding the guided tour that I participated in recently.

I was impressed with the behaviour of the pupils in the classrooms that I visited and the attention that is given to the pupil's appearance and care of the site generally.

My tour guides were girl and boy heads. These young people were inspirational and conducted an extensive tour, providing relevant information in an interesting and sincere way. I was particularly struck by genuine warmth and esteem which they had for the staff at Lyndon School, and how appreciative they were of all that the staff do to help them achieve their potential.

It was an uplifting experience, and I would like to thank you, your staff, and the pupils for this insight into the ethos behind, and day to day working of Lyndon School.

Yours sincerely
Elizabeth Wilson
